Career Networking

- Many people find their jobs through networking.
- What is networking?

Networking is simply an information exchange between you and another person. It involves establishing relationships with people. These connections can lead to job opportunities.
- It's about who you know, and it is about who knows you.
- A bigger network means more opportunities.

Marketing Tools

- Use various tools to market yourself to potential employers.
- Business cards, Cover letters, Resumes, Phone calling, Interviews, Degrees, Certifications.

“To Whom it May Concern”

Using "To Whom It May Concern" today can seem outdated or impersonal. Here are a few alternatives you can use for your next letter, email or memo.

“Dear [Team or Department]”

For example,
“Dear Customer Service Department,”

“Dear [Job Title]”

For example, “Dear HR Director,”

“Dear [First Name]” or “Dear [Mr./Mrs./Ms./Dr. /Professor] [Last Name]”

For example, “Dear Dr. Lee,”

Steps to Take Before Using "To Whom It May Concern"

On a Cover Letter

Look on the company website

Perform a
LinkedIn search

Ask a friend or colleague

Check job listing for hiring manager or employer name

Call the office and explain that you are applying for a job and would like to know the name of the hiring manager

- Set up your camera and headset or microphone ahead of time
- The ideal background is tidy, distraction-free, quiet & well-lit
- Dress professionally
- Have a pen, notepad, and copy of your resume nearby
- Enter the meeting a few minutes early

Examples of Interview Questions

General Interview Questions –

These questions are not job-specific; they are general questions about your career and the qualities you bring to the job.

- Tell me about yourself (Elevator pitch)
- Why did you leave your previous employer?
- Why are you interested in this job or company?
- What are your strengths and weaknesses?
- What experience do you bring to this position?
- What was your biggest accomplishment?
- Describe your career goals and where you see yourself over the next 2-5 years?

Examples of Interview Questions

Competency-Based Questions –

These questions are carefully designed to probe your past performance using specific job-related criteria. “Tell me about a time when...”

- “You completed a task or project under a tight deadline”
- “You had to show attention to detail”
- “You had to deal with a challenging colleague or situation”
- “You were asked to complete a task but not given much direction or information”
- “You had to change your work priority in the middle of completing another”

When asked a question that requires you to relate a story, Use the STAR method!

STAR Exercise:

Pick an interview question and think about how you would respond based on the STAR method.

You may be asked at random to share your response with the class.

“Tell me about a time when...”

- “You completed a task or project under a tight deadline”
- “You had to show attention to detail”
- “You had to deal with a challenging colleague or situation”
- “You were asked to complete a task but not given much direction or information”
- “You had to change your work priority in the middle of completing another”

Understanding Your Personal Work Style

Think about your own personal work style by answering the following questions:

- What unique quality would you bring to the workplace?
- List several words or phrases that describe how you would do your work.
- If you were to observe yourself from a distance, what is the most interesting thing you would notice about how you work?
- Imagine yourself working with others. How would your co-workers describe you and your way of working with them?
- Again, imagine yourself on the job. How would your supervisor describe you and the way you complete your work?

Understanding Your Personal Work Style

Think Through Your Work Style: Do you work fast? Enjoy collaboration? Try to do your hardest project in the early morning? Have a preferred way of engaging with your manager?

Be Brief: You can't mention every aspect of your work style in your response, most likely, so focus on the elements that demonstrate your best qualities and fit with the job at hand.

Give Examples: Consider including a brief example that emphasizes your work style. For example, mention a time when your efficiency and ability to multitask helped you complete an assignment a week before the deadline.

Questions to Ask in an Interview

Can you elaborate on the day-to-day responsibilities this job entails?

What are the characteristics of someone who would succeed in this role?

What's the most important thing I could do to help within the first 90 days of employment?

What are some of the challenges you've seen people in this role or on this team encounter?

If I were in this job, how would my performance be measured?

What does the career path for someone in this role look like?

What other functions or departments does this team work with most often?

8

What does your job look like day-to-day and how would you anticipate working with the person in this role?

What do you like best about working here?

Tips for Completing an Application

Your first contact with employers is your resume or application

When completing a physical application, make a good first impression by:

- Write neatly / Avoid spelling errors
- Make minimal corrections
- Keep the application clean
- Follow instructions
- Use complete words – no abbreviations or acronyms
- Fill in all information requested
- Keep your responses positive

If you are asked why you left a job, rather than complain about your previous job, explain that you were looking for a more challenging opportunity.

- Be accurate

Be sure all information you give is correct. Employment dates, addresses, and reference contacts must be accurate because they will be checked.

Basic Resume Writing Rules

- 1. Make it your own -
Consider what drives or defines you.
- 2. Highlight your key accomplishments and most relevant skills –
Within the first top half of your resume using bullets.
- 3. Customize your resume to each position –
Tailor your resume to reflect the skills and experience for the position you are applying for.
- 4. Be specific: show action and quantify your accomplishments
Do not say “I am a good typist,” instead say “I type 60 words a minute.”
- 5. Be honest
While it is acceptable to show off your skills, do not lie or exaggerate.
- 6. Be positive -
Emphasize your accomplishments and avoid negative statements
- 7. Keep it clean, short, and simple
Try to limit it to one page and make it easy to read, clear, and to the point. Be sure to have someone proofread it for grammar and spelling mistakes.

Creating a Plan!

Identify your Strengths, Gifts, and Capacities.

- Strengths – “I am” statements.
- Gifts – Talents, aptitudes or things the participant is good at.
- Capacities – “I can” statements.

Identify:

- What you are able to do
- Your interests
- What you’ve done in the past

Strengths: I AM...

- Organized
- Good Communicator
- Great Listening Skills
- Creative/Innovative Thinker
- Leader
- Humble/Empathetic
- Thoughtful/Caring
- Patient/Disciplined
- Skilled in Management
- Knowledgeable in Financing

Gifts: I ENJOY...

- Working with people
- Reading
- Researching
- Traveling
- Golfing
- Helping people
- Being a parent
- Listening to music

Capacities: I CAN...

- Multi-task
- Learn new skills
- Do anything I put my mind to
- Adaptable
- Take care of my family
- Speak various languages

What Works/ What Doesn't Work

- Create a list of job characteristics that do and do not work well for you.
- This may include work hours, location, environment, tasks, or other characteristics.

What Works...

- Be part of a team
- 5 day work week
- Positive Environment
- Good communication with management
- Good Attitude
- Medical/Dental Benefits
- Earning $25/hour
- Flexible work hours
- Permanent schedule

What Doesn't Work...

- Not working with others
- Working 70 hours a week
- Earning less than $25.00
- Negative work environment
- Long meetings
- Relocating
- Traffic
- No employee parking

Creating your "SMART GOAL"

Remember...you need to set a plan to achieve your goals!

Your goal should be as specific as possible and answer the questions: What is your goal? How often or how much? Where will it take place?

How will you measure your goal? Measurement will give you specific feedback and hold you accountable.

Goals should push you, and it is important that they are achievable. Are your goals attainable?

Is your goal and timeframe realistic for the goal you have established?

Do you have a timeframe listed in your SMART goal? This helps you be accountable and helps in motivation.

Next Steps

- You will receive a phone call or email from your RESEA case manager with a schedule time for your Individual RESEA Interview.
- Have your list of job contacts available during the interview. At this time, you will be required to submit your job contact sheet along with Form UC-BP-24R to your WDD local office.
- A subsequent follow-up interview will be scheduled approximately three (3) weeks after your initial RESEA Interview and Orientation. Have your updated list of job contacts and Form UC-BP-24R available during your follow-up interview as you will be required to submit them to your WDD local office again at program completion.

Note: RESEA Supplemental Worksheets are included in your Orientation Materials Packet as additional support activities for you to do on your own time.
