You may file a complaint by completing and submitting the U.S. DOL's Civil Rights Center's (CRC's) Complaint Information and Privacy Act Consent Forms, which may be obtained either from the recipient's EO Officer or from CRC. The form is available electronically on the CRC's website

(<https://www.dol.gov/oasam/programs/crc/>) and by making a request to CRC at the address listed below.

If you file your complaint with the State of Hawaii Equal Opportunity (EO) Officer within 180 days from the date of the alleged discriminatory act under the WIOA complaint procedure, you must wait until either DLIR issues a written Notice of Final Action or until 90 days have passed from the filing of the complaint (whichever is sooner) before filing with the CRC.

If DLIR does not give you a written Notice of Final Action within 90 days of the day on which you filed a complaint, you do not have to wait for DLIR to issue that Notice before filing a complaint with CRC. However, you must file your CRC complaint within 30 days of the 90-day deadline for the Notice, i.e., 120 days after the day on which you filed your complaint with DLIR.

If DLIR does give you a written Notice of Final Action on your complaint, but you are dissatisfied with the decision or resolution, you may file a complaint with the CRC. You must file your CRC complaint within 30 days of the date on which you received the Notice of Final Action.

ADDITIONAL PROTECTIONS AGAINST EMPLOYMENT DISCRIMINATION

In addition to the federal requirement that programs receiving federal financial assistance shall not discriminate against anyone (including applicants for benefits and services, recipients, participants, and other beneficiaries), both federal and state laws prohibit discrimination by employers, unions, and employment agencies against employees and job applicants. Federal law prohibits discrimination because of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability or genetic information. Hawai'i state law prohibits discrimination because of race, sex, including gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, age, religion, color, ancestry, disability, marital status, arrest and court record, domestic or sexual victim status, national guard participation, assignment of income for child support obligations, breastfeeding, or credit history or credit report. Both federal and state law prohibit retaliation against any individual for opposing prohibited discrimination, filing a complaint, or testifying or assisting in any proceeding regarding prohibited discrimination.

If you think you have been subjected to employment discrimination, you can file a complaint with the Hawai'i Civil Rights Commission (HCRC) or the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC). The deadline for filing a complaint with the HCRC is 180 days from the date of the alleged discriminatory act (or last act in a pattern of ongoing discrimination). The deadline for filing an EEOC complaint is 300 days.
