

COVID-19: Workers' Compensation, Temporary Disability Insurance, and Prepaid Health Care Q&As

COVID-19 QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The below are questions and answers for workers' compensation (WC), temporary disability insurance (TDI), and Prepaid Health Care (healthcare) scenarios due to coronavirus (COVID-19). The DLIR will do all that we can to ensure that impacted Hawaii employees receive the benefits for which they are eligible for.

All answers will depend on your employer's insurance policy and/or your bargaining unit contract, if applicable.

- 1. Can I receive WC benefits if I contract COVID-19 at work?
 - Only if the contraction is directly attributable to your employment duties. For example, a healthcare worker that contracts COVID-19 because s/he cared for a patient with COVID-19 could be eligible to receive WC.
- 2. Can I receive TDI benefits if I contract or self-quarantine for COVID-19?
 - To be eligible for TDI, you would have needed to have a minimum of 20 hours for the 14 weeks in the previous four completed calendar quarters. Your contraction or self-quarantine cannot be because of a work-related injury. You also cannot be receiving unemployment insurance or WC benefits.
- 3. How do I file for WC benefits?
 - Please notify your employer, who will then contact their insurance carrier.
 - File a WC-5 form, which may be found at www.labor.hawaii.gov/dcd/files/2012/11/WC-5.pdf.
 - For assistance in filing, contact (808) 586-9161.
- 4. How do I file for TDI benefits?
 - Please contact your employer, who will then contact their insurance carrier.
 - If your claim is denied, for assistance, please contact (808) 586-9188.
- 5. If I am hospitalized or unable to work due to being ill with COVID-19, will my employer continue to pay my healthcare premiums?
 - The law provides that an employer shall continue to cover an employee's premiums for up to a period of three months following the month during which the employee became hospitalized or disabled from working due to sickness.

After the three months, an employee is responsible for paying his/her employer's share of the healthcare premiums.
- 6. Will I continue to receive my healthcare benefits if I am laid off?
 - It depends on your eligibility and employer's policy. Please contact your employer for more information.
- 7. Will I need a doctor's note if I self-quarantine due to COVID-19?
 - That would depend on the circumstances, your employer's policies, and/or your bargaining unit contract. Please contact your employer for more information.
- 8. What if my employer has stopped my healthcare coverage?
 - You may be reimbursed by the DLIR for your medical expenses, contact the healthcare number below.
